14,000-ish Tiny dos-w3.1-w9x-XP-w7+ Programs < 1mb

The 15,027 files in these 6 rar archives are an extract from my Windows Freeware collection I've accumulated over the last 25+ years.

I've always had an interest in small Freeware programs and there are certainly some interesting programs in this extract.

I hope that by making them available here other people may discover and enjoy them and by doing so they won't be lost to time when I cark it and this server goes belly up.

These are all the smaller programs I have that are under 1mb in size.

Some programs when unzipped may be larger than 1mb but I'm not about to search through nn,000 zip files to find out which ones they are.

There are 15,027 files in total and allowing for some duplicates and possible theme files I reckon there are probably around 14,000 unique program exe/zip files.

The files are 99% Windows programs - w3.1, w95-98-ME, 2K, XP, 7 - although there are a few MAC and CP/M programs.

I've just done an extract from the 6 Freeware directories on my NAS of exe/zip/rar/7z files and grouped them in the following size categories:

Directory	Size	Files	Folders
01kb-10kb	10mb	1292	380
11kb-100kb	207mb	4555	1072
101kb-200kb	321mb	2262	775
201kb-500kb	1.11gb	3543	1024
510kb-1mb	2.28gb	3375	1017
ALL_1kb-1mb	3.92gb	15027	1913

They're grouped in a similar directory structure as on my NAS and FTP server.

The DIR000-0005 structure reflects the directory structure on the NAS and my FTP server and while it may not seem logical at first look, it reflects the various source PCs and laptops I've extracted the programs from over the last 25 years.

I imagine you'll get used to it.

I've also cataloged the content of each of the 6 groups using the program Virtual Volumes View.

Catalogs and program are in the file "!_Shotter_Nails_Tiny_Apps_Catalogs_(VVV).rar".

To view the catalogs you'll need to extract the folder from the rar and then run the program "X-VirtualVolumesView.exe".

By default it will load the catalog "Apps_Catalog_ALL_1kb-1mb" which has all 15,027 programs listed in directory structure similar to Windows Explorer.

Use the "Open" function to load a different catalog.

The 6 catalogs available in Virtual Volumes View are:

Name	Size
Apps_Catalog_01-10kb.vvv	2.13 mb
Apps_Catalog_011-100kb.vvv	3.47 mb
Apps_Catalog_101-200kb.vvv	2.63 mb
Apps_Catalog_201-500kb.vvv	3.17 mb
Apps_Catalog_501kb-1mb.vvv	3.13 mb
Apps_Catalog_ALL_1kb-1mb.vvv	7.23 mb

Virtual Volumes View also has a search function and a nifty function that lets you create virtual views - you can create a virtual folder and then add files to it from the catalog - kind of a favourites folder.

A very nice program that is very usable and also includes built-in help.

The programs are packaged in 6 archive files in rar format based on size categories that match the naming convention of the catalog files.

The large 3.6gb archive "Shotter_Nails_Tiny_Apps_ALL_1kb-1mb.rar" has all 15,027 programs merged into a single directory structure and includes the catalog folder.

The other 5 smaller archives each have one of the smaller "grouped by size" folders with the name of the archive file indicating the size group, e.g., "01-10kb, "011-100kb", etc..

The catalog folder is not included in these smaller archives, but there is a pdf included in each archive which lists the contents of the archive (in a directory format).

These archives will be available both on my website:
  https://tiny.multiboot-windows.dscloud.me/and my FTP site: (login in "anonymous" using your FTP client of choice)

  ftp://shotterftp21.mooo.com/

The usual Disclaimer:

All software on this site is provided "uberrimae fidei" and with no malicious intent.

I am not the author of any freeware programs on this site and the freeware here is some of what I've collected over the last 25+ years and is made available as found.

As far as I'm aware, there's no malware, spyware, virus, trojan, warez (or whatever else fits into the current threat model of a very insecure generation) in the archives.

However, there < w I l l > be some things your AV will object to, for example, some product key finder software, for example some Nirsoft key finders, will prompt an AV warning, as will a few other programs.
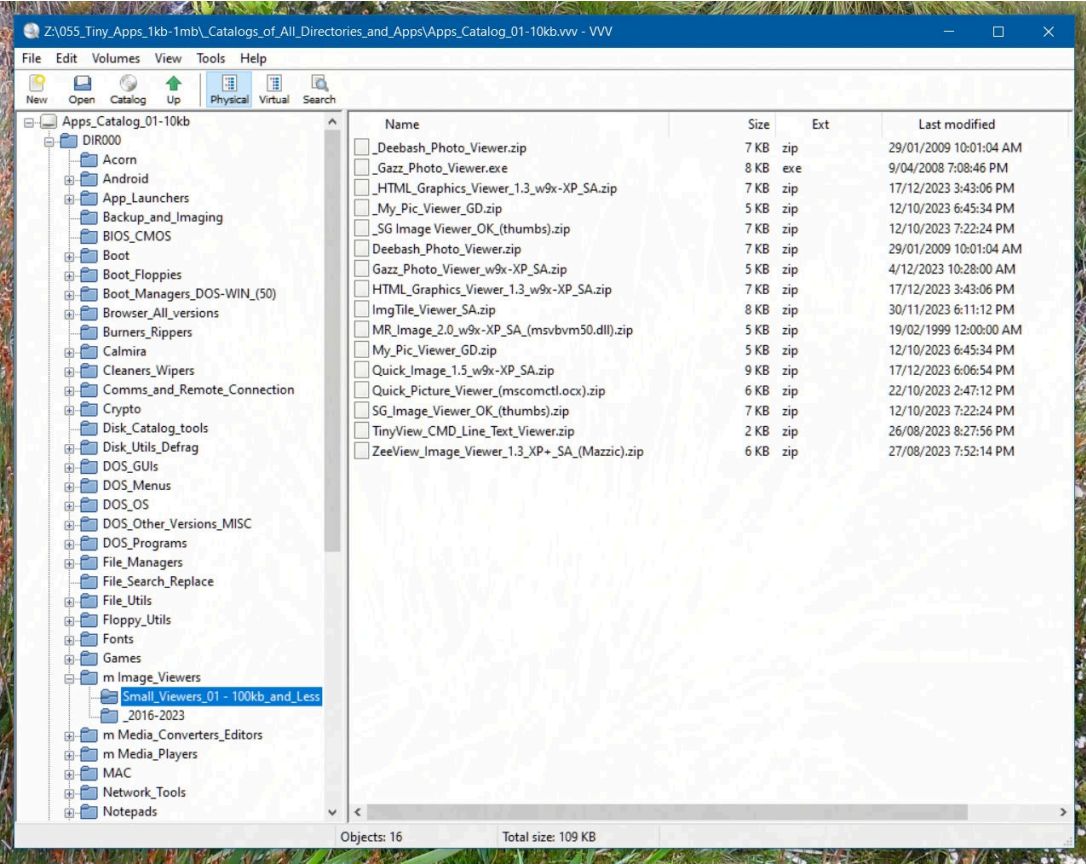

If that concerns you then move along . . . nothing to see here.

The bottom line - no freeware program or other software available here is provided with malicious intent - but some will require adult behaviour.
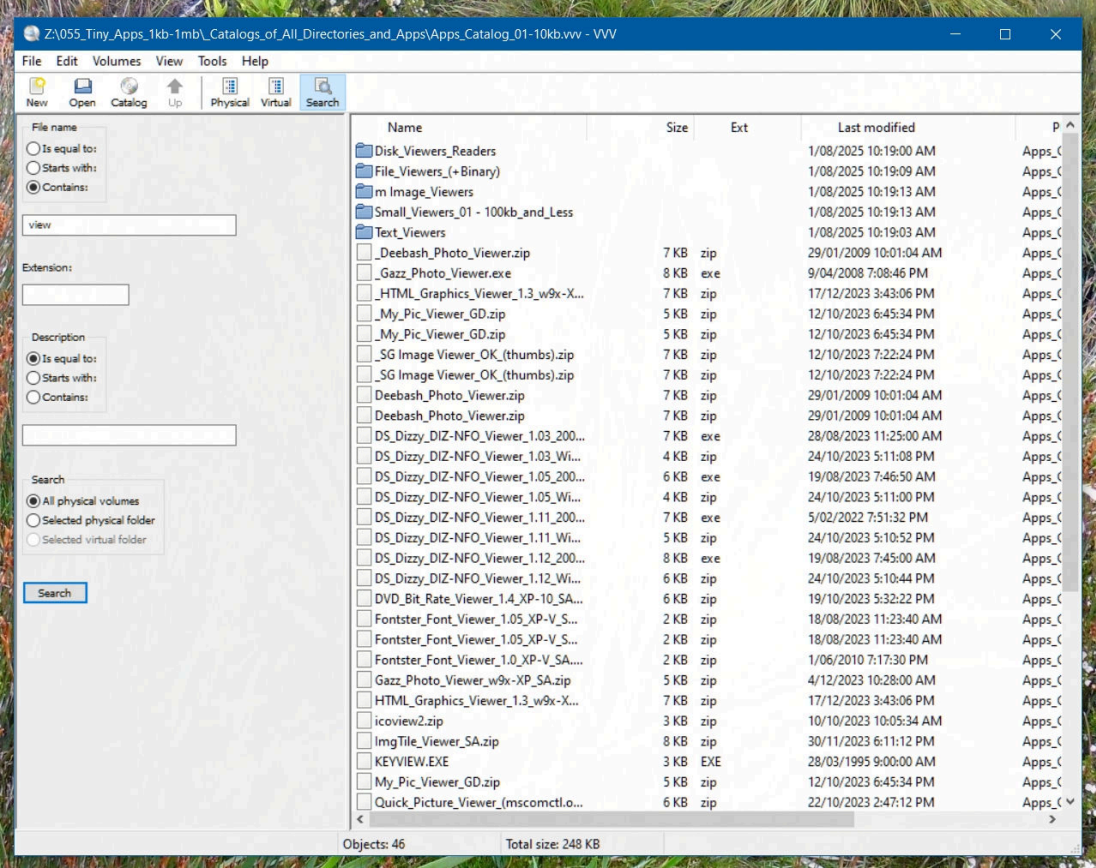

Kind regards,
shotter_nail
